The first performance of the tour will be on Friday, April 8, at the Ángela Peralta Theater in San Miguel de Allende at 7pm. Other concerts will be on Saturday, April 9, at the Museo Regional de Querétaro at 8pm, and on Sunday, April 10, at the Casa Museo Gene Byron in Guanajuato at 1pm.

The tour program is centered on Romantic piano masterpieces, the European artistic movement that inspired many beautiful compositions here in Mexico. The repertory includes stunning pieces by Schubert, Beethoven, Chopin, Liszt, Rachmaninoff, de Falla, Villanueva, Castro, and Ponce.

About the recital's setup, Luca Rebola comments that this personal project intends to make use of today's technology and intensify musical communication, where audiovisual material leads the public to a more direct and emotional reception of the musical message.

Luca Rebola was born in Pinerolo, Italy, in 1975. At the age of seven, he started his piano lessons. He has been trained by the piano teachers Silvana Davi, Alessandro Ambrosoli, and Mario Delgado, among others.

He has participated in several national and international piano competitions and won a Grand Chopin Prize at the Concorso Internazionale Gli Amatori del Pianoforte, led by the Associazione Dino Ciani in Verbania, Italy, in 2005.
